Kinky Boots is the uplifting new British musical comedy and is inspired by true events and based on the hit 2005 British film of the same name by Geoff Deane and Tim Firth. Kinky Boots features stunning costumes, a joyous, Tony-winning score by Cyndi Lauper and a hilarious, uplifting book by Broadway comedy legend Harvey Fierstein.

This feel good musical Kinky Boots takes you from the factory floors of a gentlemen's shoe factory in Northampton to the glamorous catwalks of Milan.

Kinky Boots has a powerful message of friendship, love and acceptance and the importance of fighting for what is right, and discovering why, sometimes, "the best way to fit in... is to stand out."

His Story

On 24th September 2019, Angus our grandson was diagnosed with an aggressive blood cancer, T-cell Acute Lymphoblastic Leukaemia (T-ALL). He is one of under 100 children in the UK each year who receive this devastating diagnosis.

Despite chemotherapy starting immediately, for a while Angus counted as a 'slow responder'. All of our world was turned upside down. Explaining to your nine-year old that his platinum blonde hair will soon be left in a halo on the pillow is the least of it. We have been humbled by the extraordinary support from incredible teams at the Royal Marsden, St. George's and Evelina hospitals and an overwhelming response from family and friends. The planned chemo treatment last a tortuous 3.5 years of which the first 8 months are the most brutal. Throughout his treatment Angus has maintained his spirit and as a family they wanted to help raise money for Childhood cancer research. Every penny will go towards the Royal Marsden Cancer charity.
